To whom it may concern,

After supporting conventional farm management practices for all of my career, I have become a strong supporter and advocate of the biological systems approach to farming and food production. Consequently, I have been interested in energised water and Energy Systems Plus since its inception in New Zealand and this is how I came to meet and get to know Bob Greer.

I have now known Bob Greer for about three years, since the establishment of Energy Systems Plus. His reputation in electronics and especially the field of radio engineering is second to none. In the relatively brief time I have known Bob, he has always come across as a well meaning, diligent and honest person. His integrity cannot be challenged.

Bob has used his experience and knowledge to become well versed in water science and the fourth phase of water. The more recent discovery of the latter should, or more positively, will revolutionise the use and management of water in our food and fiber production systems.

Bob has a fascinating story to tell. Listen well!

Yours sincerely,

John Field-Dodgson
